“Where there’s a will, there’s a way”

by Albert Einstein

Just imagine what your life might be without the ability to freely engage in movement: to swim, to exercise at the gym, to fish or take a walk in the woods. What would your life be without the ability to move your body and take part in things like riding a bike, getting on a hayride wagon, roasting marshmallows camping or trying for that “hole in one” dream?

There is a disparity in our community for people with disabilities: to be able to use the gym to exercise or swim, to participate in recreational activities like fishing, camping or golfing. Why, because they need someone to assist them to get onto the gym equipment and use the lat pull-down bar, to physically help them into the pool and swim, to help them cast that fishing rod.

Being able to move our bodies affects our performance, culture, and especially, the quality of our lives. No one can understand this more than someone who has lived life before and life after a disability like Yes U Can’s cofounder, Vickie George. In a split second, your life can change forever and the world you live in will be completely different and much, much harder. OR you could have been challenged with a disability from the onset and found that the world was not receptive to people who need a little extra help. It could happen to you couldn’t it? It happened to Vickie George at age 38 and to all of the Yes U Can participants. MS, Stroke, Heart Disease, Cancer, Cerebral Palsy, Traumatic Brain Injury from an accident, are just a few of the health issues that have denied the mobile freedom and its benefits and enjoyments from our community members.

We formed Yes U Can for that reason. To serve children and adults who are physically challenged and excluded from participating in existing exercise and recreational programs due to their disability and need for a little help. Our sole purpose is to provide assistance to help individuals with disabilities stay active and healthy through adapted programming so that they can engage in opportunities that most of us take for granted.

Over the years, we have assisted hundreds of children and adults with disabilities by providing thousands of adapted sports, fitness, recreational and healthy-workshop sessions. There are no programs available in the state that offer this type of assistance.

And if it happens to you, Yes U Can will be there.

We thank you from the heart,
Vickie George and Deb Woolwine, Cofounders
